

ALEXANDRIA. VA TUFSDAY EVENIAG, SEPTEMBER 1.

LAST WESK, when President Harrison was prating in Vermont about the patriotism of that State and the disloyalty of the South, the GAZETTE called attention to the historical facts of the unpatriotic and "rebellious" part taken by Vermont in both the Revolutionary war and the war of 1812. A writer in the New York Sun of yesterday, in respect of the same matter, revives the memory of the facts that preserved letters of General Stark and of George Washington prove that Vermont was disloyal in "the times that tried men's souls," and kept up her traitorous designs until the independence of the colonies was assured by the surrender of Cornwallis in Virginia. Mr. Harrison's bloody shirt speeches in Vermont prove that he is either very ignorant of the history of his own country, or else is too prejudiced to be fair, or, what is more probable, is so selfish that he would revive sectional hate in order to promote his waning chance for a renomination.

IT is stated that the reason the sub-tressury and land loan schemes were rejected by the State convention of the Missouri Alliance, was the knowledge that had they been adopted, certain members of that convention would have secoded and stated that there is an oath-bound organization within that Alliance whose principles are the same as those of the anarchists. Indeed, it seems that the whole Alliance is a secret and oath-bound organization, and the fate of a similar, but stronger one, the Know Nothings, shows that the existence of such in a free country can only be ephemeral, especially in the South, where every man's religious and political freedom is secured not only by law, but by public opinion.

A DISPATCH from Berlin says it is expected there that all restrictions on the importation of American pork will be removed today. The bad crops of Europe will tend to produce like effects in all the other countries of that continent, not only in respect of pork, but of all other American food, as the removal of the duty on American produce will reduce the price thereof, and is proposed solely for that purpose. And yet, with all this before their eyes, the protectionists in this country still persist in their ridiculous assertion that a tariff duty is not a tax.

THE PRESIDENT in refusing to heed the universal demand for the removal of Mr. Raum, commissioner of pensions-a demand made by republicans, independents and democrate alike-for his many, notorious and demonstrs. ted derelictions in personal and official conduct, acts upon the principle of "the public be d-d." But the man with "the small head and big bat" will soon be in the same boat with Mr. R. B. Hayes, and a more uncomfortable position can bardly be imagined.

THE RUSSIAN government is a wise one, ignorant gabblers, to the contrary, notwithstanding. It derives the largest part of its revenue from its tax on liquor. Such a tax is the least burdensome of all, because its payment is voluntary, and not compulsory. No one need pay a cent of it unless he shall choose, of his own free will, to do so; and surely he would be a mean spirited fellow who, being rich enough to drink liquor would object to paying the tax on it.

THE LONDON Truth of the 20th ult. says: "Bishop Wordsworth has been on a walking tour through Dorsetshire, in order that he might visit a number of remote villages in his diocese." Some American bishops are very active and energetic, but, as yet, not one among them all has ever walked through his diocese, and the one who should do so would render himself famous.

THE National Citizens' Alliance, an auxillary of the Farmers' Alliance, excludes from its membership bankers, lawyers and liquor dealers. Misery loves company, but which one of the classes referred to derives consolation from association with either of the others is not generally known, though the scoffers pretend to the full possession of such knowledge.

THE NATIONAL democratic committee should have the bloody shirt speeches President Harrison made during his recent trip to Vermont collected and published for circulation in the South. They remind the reader of one of Mr. Cleveland's late Buffalo utterances about the "rebellious hands the South laid upon the flag."

FROM WASHINGTON.

[Special Correspondence of the Alexandria Gasette.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 1, 1891. The call for the payment of twenty-five per cent. of the subscribed for stock of the Washington and Arlington Railroad, ground for the construction of which has been broken on the Virginiaside of the river, says that the contract for building that road has been let to the Woodbridge & Turner Engineering Company, of New York. Mr. Wheeless. of the railroad company, says the track from the Aqueduct Bridge to the northwest gate of Arlington, near Fort Meyer, will be a single track with turnouts, that the power will be generated in Georgetown and transmitted across the Aqueduct Bridge by an insolated wire, and that passengers will be carried across that bridge by coaches until the railroad bridge at the Three Sisters shall be

Mr. A. B. Meeker, of the Barrow Improvement Company, has just returned from a trip to Europe, and reports that two million dollars have been raised there, of which four hundred thousand are already on deposit in New York, and that the whole sum will be invested in the Barrow works, to be established at Potomac City, Quantico, on the Potomac, to which point a branch of the B. & O.

E. R. will be built.

To-day the State of Vermont was paid the full sum of the direct land tax collected from her during the war, and that, too, though the Comptroller of the Treasury had decided that it should be offset by the cost of certain arms and ammunition supplied by the government to Vermont for her militia, which had never been returned nor paid for,

Not a word of news has been received at the State Department from Minister Egan respecting the state of affairs in Chile save the brief cablegram sent last week teiling of an unimportant skirmish. The officials of the Department are at a loss to explain this reticence on the part of the minister except npon the theory that telegraphic communi-cation between Valparaise, the cable terminus, and Santiago, the capital, where Min-ister Egan resides, is not yet fully restored. It is said here that Egan was in the pay of Balmaceds, and that his son had been warded certain valuable contracts.

Owing to the refusal of the banks to extend their bonds at two per cent., the government will have to redeem at least twenty-five million of them. This, with the September quarterly pension payment, will make a considerable inroad into the security funds in the Treasury vaults.

Lewis S. Waller and James F. Jones were to day appointed United States gangers, the former at Martinsville and the latter at

Lost in the Everglades

A dispatch to the New York World from Sanford, Fla., says: Four men, one a Spaniard, undertook to explore the wild region of the Everglades. They gave out that they were going to south Fiorida on a hunting and fishing excursion and sent their outfit to Kissimmee. From there they proceeded to Lake Okeechobee by steamer, and after a two days' journey were landed on the south bank of that lake, in the heart of the Ever-

One day, while reconncitering, one of the party discovered a hill several hundred feet high which bore marks of cultivation. The hill was nearly spherical and about a mile in diameter. Investigation disclosed human footprints. By this time the explorers were getting excited, but were hardly prepared for the next eight that greeted them-a white man, clad entirely in the skins of wild ani-mais. They plied him with questions, but the stranger did not understa led them up a path, embowered in shrubbery, to a log cabin, around which two children were playing. Still they were at a loss to communicate until Mr. Erazuriz, the Spaniard, addressed him in that language. Then the floodgates of speech were opened, and the man poured out a strange romance.

His name is Hernandez. He was one of the Cuban insurgents in the rebellion of 1868, and was on an insurgent vessel in the straits of Florida when it was pursued by a Spanish man-of-war. The captain of the ressel, seeing that he could not escape, ran it ashore near Rogers river, which empties into Ponce de Leon bay. All were drowned but Hernandes, who was thrown on an uninhabited shore. He wandered about for a day without seeing signs of life.

Penetrating the swamp he discovered a hut, in which there was a young Indian girl, who made him understand that other Indians in the neighhood would prove dangerous should he meet them She undertook to guide him to a safe road, but missed her way, and for six days the two wandered in the wilderness, subsisting on berries, till they chanced to be on the hill mentioned. Fear-ing to become hopelessly lest, they remained. There they had stayed all those years, living as man and wife.

Hernandez had lost all count of time and had become quite reconciled to his wild and lonely He was easily persuaded, however, to abar the, he was easily persuaded, however, to acan-don it, and the explorers carried him away with them, furnishing him and his family with civil-ised clothing and with money with which to pro-ceed to Cuba, where Hernadez hoped to find his

Another Railroad Accident.

A wreck occurred on the Cannellton branch of the Louisville, Evansville and St. Louis Railroad about 11 o'clock yesterday morning, in which it is reported four lives were lost, thirteen badly hurt, and eighteen slightly injured. The flange of one of the forward trucks of the engine broke while the train was running at the rate of about thirty miles an hour. The train at the time The engine passed over the trestle and plunged down the embankment. The train was a mixed one, the passenger coach being next | room, where she refused to comply with his to the engine. The coach followed the engine into the ditch and rolled over on top of t. It was occupied by about thirty persons and the steam pipes gave way and the scalding steam entered the coach. Many of the passengers were women and children, soon as those who were slightly injured extricated themselves they began the work of resone. All were got out, but none escaped injury, many being so badly burned that in which Deplnay was held is turned to bit-their flesh was cooked in places until it came terest hatred, which will know no abatement their flesh was cooked in places until it came

Another Theory.

Supplementary to the story originating with the girl's mother of the double suicide of Prince Budolph, of Austria, and Marie, Baroness de Vetsers, a New York paper published yesterday a statement purporting to come from a former member of the Austrian court to the energy that the Prince shot the Baroness and then himself because he suspected she was his half-sister. Her mother, a Levantine of great beauty, was supomber of the Austrian court to the effect that posed to have engaged in an intrigue with the Emperor Francis Joseph, father of the Prince Rudolph, and the latter's horror at the discovery of the relationship between himself and the woman with whom he was infatuated led to the

Capt. White, of the Pacific Mail steamship City of Panama, when the official representative of President Ezeta, of Salvador, boarded his vessel at La Libertad and demanded that Patrick Brennan, an American citizen, and four Salvadoriane be handed over on the charge of being revolutionists, protected his passengers by informing the Salvadorian officer that he would throw him overboard if he did not leave the vessel, and the officer promptly left without his prisoners.

It is expected that Balmaceda the legislative President of Chile, will join the list of exiled ex-monarchs and ex-presidents in France. His family left Santiago some months ago, and are said to be in Buence Ayres, awaiting his arrival. He is also said to have forwarded about half a million dollars in gold to London two months ago on his own private account, and presumably realized from his private fortune, which was formerly large. It is reported on the strength of statements made by the congressional agents in Parls and London that Don Augustin Edwards will be the next President of Chili.

A French Murderer.

The inhabitants of the lovely city of Rouen, France, have been terribly shocked and their belief in appearances rudely shaken by a cold-blooded tragedy that has just taken place. Adolphe Depinay, a bright and handsome farmer and a favorite with women, had a face like a saint. One pecularity of his was that he was always accompanied by two dogs. He never dined without sharing his meal with them, and people argued that a man so fond of his pet; must be worthy of their confidence. He worked on a farm where a laborer named Micaud, a big burly fellow, was engaged to Matilda, a servant on the farm. Their courtehip was smooth until several days ago laborers were startled on hearing that Matilda had been found lying dead in a pool of blood in the kitchen with a gash across her throat nearly severing her head from her body and otherwise mutilated. Horrified people rushed to tell Micaud the news. To their amazement he was not on the farm, having gone away for the night. Suspicion fell at once upo Micaud. Women contrasted the unfortunate fate with the happy one which might have been Matilda's it instead of Micaud she had only loved Adolphe.

peared shocked. It was noticed that there was blood on the trousers which Depinay wore when he went to work early on the morning before the murder was discovered. He was questioned as to how it came there He answered in an earnest manner that a horse in his care had cut himself and blood had thus got on him. The horse was looked at, and sure enough there was a cut. Shortly after this came news of a murder. On the body being removed a knife was found by it, and when examined was found to belong to Depinay. He was sent for and ask to explain this fact when he answered in a tone eminently framed to avert suspicion, while horror was depicted on his countenance, that as he had lent his knife to the master to kill some chickens he supposed the blood smeared the handle. This seemed to show that Micaud must have come to she house when every-body was asleep, hence this fact, with his mysterious disappearance, was accepted as absolute evidence that he was the assassin. The indignation and hatred of the laborers rose to fever heat, and they determined to scour the neighborhood to find Micand and hand him over to justice. Micaud was discovered, but he had not the slightest rouble in proving an alibi. Evidence which before had seemed blacker than Erebns against him now rolled completely away. He answered every question that was asked and produced proof of the truth of what he said. What had apparently entangled him now began to weave itself itself Depinay. He was arrested. Little incidents which nobody had before attached any attention to now began to be told.

One of Matilda's friends said she had noticed how Adolphe often talked in his soft, insinuating way to Matilda, and if that was not known to be his habitual mapper in talking to women she would have believed he was trying to make love to her; yet Matilda, while always pleasant to him, was constant to Micaud. She had repeatedly refused to accompany Adolphe on waiks. Even the was on a trestle two miles from Troy, Ind. night before she was murdered she would not go out with him. General impression prevails that Adolphe had gone to the girl's nefarious request, and there he killed her. Several neighboring farm girls have been murdered just the same way, and the unani-mous belief is that the handsome young Frenchman with the spiritual face is a murderer of the deepest dye. The feeling to wards Depinay is now completely reversed People are wild with anger at the way that they have been deceived, and the affection until the guillotine avenges his crime.

PITY FOR A REJECTED LOVER .- A young merchant of New York, who had a sweetheart in London, recently sent her a valuable ring to bind their engagement. She proved fickle, and in order to break the engagement, she sent back the ring. When the ring was delivered to him in New York he was informed that there was $46 duty due on it. He paid the money under protest and appealed to the Treasury Department for relief, explaing that the ring was of domestic manufacture. Assistant Secretary Cronnae took the case under consideration and has informed the collector of customs at New York that the duty may be refunded provided he is satisfied that the ring is of domestic manufacture and was not improved in condition or increased in value while abroad.

The Cause of the Accident.

The coroner's jury in the case of the wreck on the Western North Carolina Railroad, near Statesville, N. C., by which twentytwo lives were lost, yesterday found a yerdict that the wrecking of the train was caused by a loose rail, the bolts and spikes of the same having been taken out by some person or persons unknown to the jury, with tools or implements belonging to the railroad company, which tools or implements were left by the gross negligence of the railroad company in an open shed acces-elbie to everybody. The jury found that several cross-ties near where the rail was removed were unsound, and that the superstructure of the track was in part defective The high rate of speed maintained in going over the bridge was also censure This verdict, although it condemns the rail road company, accepts the theory that the prime cause of the wreck was the malicious removal of a rail by some miscreant.

The Pope. The Pope is said to be desirous that foreigner may be chosen at the approaching election for general of the Dominican Order. This is cited as a part of his policy of marking the international character of Catholic institutions and to prepare the way gradually for a foreign Pope. It is stated as a fact that in 1889 the Pope had arranged to leave Rome and take up his residence in Monaco, but that the arrangement fell through because the Prince of Monaco imposed certain conditions which the Pope would not accept, one of which was that the Pope should not interfere with gam-

From Chili.

VALPARAISO, August 81 .- Order is grad ually being restored in Chili. General Basquedano has been recognized as President ad interim by the members of the Junta here and little doubt is felt but that this action will be ratified by the members now en route from Iquique. The government troops at Concepcion, Talcahuano and other places disaster was commenced in New York to- have notified the Congressionalist authorities that they have finished fighting and are ready to obey orders from the Junta and only Coquimbo promises to make trouble. Balmaceda's officials at Cognimbo have out the English cable there and have refused to surrender and will make a fight. All that remains to be done now is to put down the sporadic cases of disorder, bring to trial such of the Balmacedist officials as have been guilty of acis of tyranny and prepare for the elections which will again give the republic constitutional government. Ex-Minister Godoy, Balmaceda's closest adviser, and Balmaceda's brother say that since the outbreak of the revolution Balmaceda has depended upon the representations of for disorderly conduct, and stabbed the nothe army officials that the force was loyal liceman in the throat, killing him instantly. and devoted to his cause. The Procurator Fiscal, Fas, who prosecuted the cases against the men who were alleged to be in a plot to blow up the torpeo beats Almirante Lynch and Almirante Condell and the transport Imperiale, which resulted in the execution of Cummings and two others, was taken out and shot. There have been other executions since the occupation of thecity by congressionalists, but they have been of men who were guilty of stirring up people to acts of riot and incendiarism. The most prominent of the men who have; thus far been killed on this account is Leon Lavis, editor of El Commercio who was caught in the act of distribution iccondiary pamphlets. He was excuted without the semblance of a trial. Several prominent government officials will be shot to morrow after a trial by martial

Foreign News.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—The Standard suggests that the Sultan's action in regard to Russia and the Dardanelles may be due to pique and irritation at England's refusal to reopen the Egyptian negotiations. Clearly, it says, the Straits must be either closed to all nations or open to all nations.

BERLIN, Sapt. 1 -The National Gazette argues that the initiative in the Dardanelles matter falls upon England and that it would be exceedingly bliter irony of fate if, immediately after the Portsmouth reception, England should be compelled by Russia, France's ally, to defend her interest.

GREYTOWN, Nicaragua, August 15—The force of men employed on the Nicaragua canai has been somewhat reduced, but satisfactory progress has been made in the work of construction. The pier at this port has been extended to the length of 1,030 feet, and the dredging of the channels has been continued. Great progress has also been made in the construction of telegraph and railroad lines and buildings.

Railroad Rumors

CHICAGO, Sept. 1 .- There is a general impression here that the Ohio and Mississippi railway will soon pass into the control of the Vanderbilt interests. Advices from Europe are to the effect that President J. F. Barnard of the Obio and Misslesippi and President M. E. Ingalls, of the "Big Four" and Chesapeake and Ohio, have sailed for home on the same steamer. It is believed that either absolute control of the Ohio and Mississippi or a close traffic contract for a long term of years was negotiated by the Chesapeake and Ohio, because before the two presidents sailed the cable dispatches were received by the Ohio and Mississippi traffic officials, instructing them to divert all eastern business possible to the Chesapeake and Onlo, and instructions are said to have been issued to the general and local freight agents of both roads to use the freight cars of either as if they were owned by one and the same company.

Train Robbed.

TEXAS CREEK, Col., Sept. 1 .- The Den ver & Rio Grande train was held up four miles west of this station about 12 o'clock lass night by seven masked men and the express car robbed of about $3,600. Fireman Auer was relieved of his fine gold watch and then, at the muzzle of seven rifles, he was forced to pick the lock and break in the doors of the baggage car. Express messenger Angel made a determined resistance and used a revolver to good advantage, but whether any one was killed or not is not definitely known. The sheriff got together all the men he could summon and the noted hounds that have been instrumental in running down several criminals, and will make a lively chase after the brigands.

Tarred and Feathered.

GRAND BAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 1 .- Eugene Caven der, a merchant at Craton, Newago county, died a few months ago, leaving all his property and his life insurance money to his wife. After his death the widow went to Newsgo and spent most of her time at the saloons ke; t by John Surplus and John Barley. Her conduct scandalized the neighbors and aroused the jealously of the wives of the saloon keepers. Late at night, prompted by a few male relatives, the wives visited the house where the widow and her daughter lived. Being denied admission they broke through window, beat the widow and tarred and feathered Raided by a Priest.

Chicago, Seps. 1 .- Father Alward, a Catholic priest, made a raid last night on a Chinese opium den, into which he saw two young girls enter. The priest being refused admittance, knocked the door down, took a revolver out of the hands of the proprietor and found the girls. A warrant was issued for Wah Chung, the proprietor, who in the meantime, however, had escaped.

A Policeman Killed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1 .- Policeman John J. Sherman was killed this morning by Francis Noah, a colored servant who resisted arrest stabbing in the neck, but inflicted only alight injury.

Lynched

KANSAS CITY, Mo. Sepc. 1 .- One of the desperadoes who robbed the Corder, Mo. bank yesterday afternoon was captured late last night about 20 miles from Corder and about half of the stolen money was found in his possession. While being taken to Lerington, the county seat, a mob overpowered the guard and lynched the prisoner.

A Fast Train

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 1 .- The Canadian Pi cific train with mail from Japan passed here yes terday. It was trying to catch a steamer that leaves New York for England on Wednesday, and if it succeeds the mail will reach England twentyone days from Japan-an upprecedented record. On the level prarie west of this city a speed of seventy miles an hour was reached at times.

Hop. Thomas McGreevy, who fied from Canada to the United States to avoid telling what he knew of the public works "boodling," has, it is said, been located at Portland, Maine.
